

I feel that the FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections. I no longer receive 4-5 call per evening from telemarketers. Saturdays used to be really bad, up to 7-10 calls all day long. I could tell one person I was not interested and a few days later another person from the same organization would call me again. I still receive a few here and there but the number of calls has decreased greatly. Please keep the Telephone Privacy law & no call regulations and help me and others have a peaceful night at home without unwanted interruptions.
